SIERRA'S FIRE CREW. The Examiner says of the Sierra which arrived at San Francisco on Sep-

The Oceanic Company's steamer Sierra arrived in port late this afternoon from the Antipodes, and in order to place the English mails on this evening's overland train the tug Relief had SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE. to be pressed into service. The liner generally reaches here in the morning, but owing to an inexperienced crew of firemen fast time could not be made. On her last arrival a case of smallpox caused her crew to be detained on Angel Island for two weeks, and an entire new crew had to be secured. The majority of the firemen had little experience on a liner, and consequently were unable to do the work in a satisfactory manner. For the first few days on the outward voyage some of them were unable to work in the heat of the fireroom for longer than half in of the fireroom for longer than half an assisted up on deck. They gradually became accustomed to the work and on the arrival of the liner were in fair lui at 5 p. m. condition.

A fire broke out in the coal bunkers p. m. on the outward trip, but it was not a serious affair. After several days of hard work it was extinguished.
